

Dr Stylianos Mystakidis MSc MA PMP PhD

Short Bio

Dr. Stylianos Mystakidis is an Innovator in Educational Technology and Researcher at the University of Patras, Greece. He is also a Professor-Counselor at the Hellenic Open University and Academic Teaching faculty member at the International Hellenic University. His areas of professional expertise and research are Learning Innovation, E-learning, Distance Education, Open Education, Virtual Worlds, Virtual Reality, Augmented Reality, Metaverse, Gamification, Playful Learning and Serious Games. His formal studies include a Ph.D. at the Faculty of Information Technology, University of Jyväskylä (Finland), a MA in Education in Virtual Worlds at the University of West of England Bristol (United Kingdom), a MSc in Mechanical Engineering at the National Technical University of Athens (Greece) and a Postgraduate Certificate at the Open University of Catalonia (Spain). He has published over 90 works in peer-reviewed journals, conferences and books with high impact as he has been included in the world's top 2% most-cited scientists (University of Stanford's list, 2022). He has participated as a researcher and certified Project Manager (PMI/PMP) in 14 European scientific and research projects.

Academic Publications: https://researchgate.net/profile/Stylianos_Mystakidis